To whom it may concern,

Despite not having any acting or modeling experience, especially at the age of 7, I have always envisioned myself being on stage and entertaining others. I am extremely outgoing and social, which enables me to be unconcerned about others' opinions as long as I can bring a smile to someone's face. I love listening to music and dancing in my own unique way

When I can engage in activities that I enjoy, I put in my best effort. However, I can be overly critical of myself because I always strive for perfection. Once I start something, I feel compelled to see it through to completion.

Thank you for your consideration

Sincerely,

Ariya S. Villanueva
