

Dear Casting Directors,

Chrystal has a passion for the entertainment industry. She has at least three years of public speaking with both school and church where she has become enamored with being the center of attention. The most significant of these three years of public speaking have been her regular participation at school in both assemblies and live video announcements as well as her participation at church as a leader for worship. She loves the dramatics and emotional aspects of entertaining. She has learned to excel in the requirements of these activities which have consisted mostly of scripted speaking and/or actions. For the past 3 years, she has naturally sought out the ability to be an entertainer and has now realized she wants to make a career in the entertainment industry.

As a member of your team, Chrystal would bring a focus on quality. She works very well with others and is great at public speaking and script memorization. She is generally available to start immediately and/or as soon as a current role has completed filming. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Joy Thomas
