PERSONAL INTERESTS

I am an avid reader who enjoys all things creative and art: drawing, painting, crafts, acting and music. I am always cutting, gluing, writing, while singing day-in and day-out. I work hard at my academics and am at the top of my class, so my school put together a program for me to go in the Kindergarden class as a helper to teach phonetics (one of my fortes)! I am also helping with activities in the special classroom for children with learning disabilities once a week (my favorite day). I love taking initiatives, inventing games with my friends, especially pretend-play, and volunteering at any opportunity. I am not scared of trying new things and I am very social and talkative, so I make friends easily. I have tons of energy but can do Legos for hours (days!) at a time and consider myself an expert at it. I love animals and learning about them so much that after acting, my dream is to become a Vet and save endangered animals in the World.
